Term Paper Guidelines

VII Semester, 2020-21

Term paper is compulsory for all, 7th semester CSE/IT students.

The term paper is hooked up mainly with major project. The major project group members will do the term paper work collectively.

Students are required to study major project relevant material for the term paper. You are required to study good quality Research papers (IEEE, ACM, Springer, Elsevier...) from reputed journals and conferences.

Evaluations:

There would be two evaluations for the Term paper during this semester. The evaluations for the term paper would be done along with the major project evaluation and by the same panel member and at the same time.

The work done will be judged on following point basis.

- Quality of Literature Review (Relatedness with domain, Quality of research papers)
- Quality of Report (Problem definition, documentation, references)
- Quality of Integrated Summary (Critical review of research papers, Identified Gaps)

Nature of work to be presented for Term paper:

Midterm Evaluation:

- For midterm evaluation, each individual student in a group is required to study at least five papers from the above-mentioned categories related to the project domain only.
- The number of research papers for a group will depend on the number of students involved in the group. (e.g. a group of two students will read at least 10 research papers for midterm evaluation)
- The students are required to deeply understand the work stated in papers and prepare a comprehensive literature survey, viz. Summary of all studied papers (collectively by all the group members)
- Midterm seminar report should include summarization of all the relevant research papers studied and referred.
- All the work in a form of report needs to be submitted to the respective supervisor. Supervisor will hand over the report to the panel member1.

End term Evaluation:

- For end term evaluation, each student is required to study five new (other than referred during midterm evaluation) relevant research papers.

- A comprehensive literature review needs to be prepared by including all the paper studied during midterm and end term phase.

- End term seminar report should include summarization of all research papers. For second evaluation, the count of research papers should be at least 10 or more than that.

- The final evaluation would be conducted along with the end term major project viva.

- All the consolidated work in a form of report needs to be submitted to the respective supervisor. Supervisor will hand over the report to the panel 1.
